Infant At-Home Kit

This highly interactive, age-appropriate, hands-on program helps family members be their child's best teacher!

Frog Street's Family Learning Fun Infant At-Home Kit combines the early childhood expertise of Frog Street specialists with the simple instruction, toys, books, and online resources a parent needs to excel at home – all in one place!

Parents can now implement research-based activities to help their children develop along physical, social-emotional, language and cognitive learning domains.

Features of the program include:

- Appropriate for newborn through 18 months
- Toys, books, posters, and handy activity cards on a metal ring keep all parent/caregiver guidance in one easy-to-find place
- Online portal with engaging songs and parent letters with child development topics that will lead to future success in school
- Perfect for tummy time, before-bed cuddle time, or activity time
- Available in English and Spanish
- Conveniently organized in a reusable Frog Street bag!

Infant At-Home Kit

Frog Street Family Learning Fun Kits include written activities, toys, and even an easy-access online portal with songs, and other resources – all available in English and Spanish – to instill confidence and kindness in children.

Infant At-Home Kits are a compelling offering for new enrollments at childcare centers, or for Head Start programs looking to increase family engagement. They are also a great benefit for corporate, nonprofit, or academic spaces with childcare built-in.
